18	Institute: RASHTRIYA RAKSHA UNIVERSITY Course: TRAINING PROGRAM ON CRIMINAL PROFILING OF OFFENDERS Start Date: 09-06-2025 End Date: 20-06-2025	Criminal profiling has emerged as a critical tool in modern investigative practices, bridging the gap between psychology and law enforcement. In an era where crimes are becoming increasingly complex and offenders employ more sophisticated methods, understanding the behavioral and psychological characteristics of offenders is paramount. Criminal profiling provides investigators with valuable insights into the likely traits, motivations, and patterns of offenders, enabling faster identification and apprehension. This training program aims to equip participants with the theoretical foundations and practical applications of criminal profiling. By exploring psychological principles, behavioral analysis, and investigative techniques, officials will learn to interpret crime scene evidence, predict offender behavior, and contribute to more effective case resolutions. By integrating criminal profiling into their investigative framework, participants will enhance their ability to solve crimes efficiently and adopt proactive strategies to prevent future offenses. This program underscores the necessity of psychology-driven approaches in achieving justice and maintaining public safety in an evolving criminal landscape. 127	Institute: RASHTRIYA RAKSHA UNIVERSITY Course: TRAINING PROGRAM ON REFORMATION AND REHABILITATION OF OFFENDERS Start Date: 29-09-2025 End Date: 10-10-2025	In the modern world, crime has transitioned significantly in its modalities, fuelled by globalization, technology, and evolving socio-economic dynamics. Cybercrimes, organized networks, and sophisticated criminal behaviours pose new challenges for justice systems worldwide. Despite these changes, methods of justice, rehabilitation, and reintegration often remain rooted in traditional approaches, which may lack the agility to address contemporary crimes effectively. The incorporation of psychological principles and techniques has become crucial for ensuring that justice systems are equipped to handle offenders in a manner that is both fair and effective. By understanding the psychological underpinnings of criminal behaviour, prison staff, law enforcement agencies, and justice officials can implement evidence-based strategies that not only manage offenders but also reduce the likelihood of reoffending. This training program aims to psycho-educate stakeholders in the criminal justice system, enabling them to adopt modern, scientifically grounded approaches. By integrating psychological insights into assessment, rehabilitation, and reintegration processes, this initiative seeks to transform correctional practices, ensuring a safer society through the reformation of offenders.
